1. SITUATION OVERVIEW

- Token Crash Impact: The $LEDGER token crash has caused a $3M paper loss, with the token now valued at $0.08. This has significantly impacted our treasury and cash runway.
- Legal Exposure: David's review of public statements reveals potential securities fraud exposure, necessitating a legal audit by Morrison Foerster.
- Team Dynamics: Tensions are high between David and Jorge over messaging, and Bob's judgment is under scrutiny after the market maker deposit incident.

2. CRITICAL PATH ANALYSIS

- SEC Disclosure: Morrison Foerster must be engaged to review all public statements and ensure compliance with securities laws.
- Kaiser Contract: Secure a letter of intent from Kaiser within 60 days to generate $150K in Q3.
- Enterprise Pipeline: Identify and pursue three additional enterprise accounts to diversify revenue sources.

3. BLIND SPOTS & UNCOMFORTABLE TRUTHS

- David's Overstepping: David has been engaging outside counsel and communicating with Kaiser about token strategy without alignment, which could erode team trust.
- Bob and Jorge Bloc: Bob and Jorge are forming a bloc against David, potentially undermining his efforts to steer the company towards a safer path.
- Paul's Softness: Paul's tendency to be too soft on Jorge and Bob is allowing their risky behaviors to continue unchecked, which could have severe consequences.

4. RISK SCENARIOS

- What if the SEC files charges against the company for securities fraud?
 - Impact: Severe legal and financial repercussions, including potential criminal charges and massive legal costs that could deplete the remaining runway.
 - Mitigation: Engage Morrison Foerster immediately to conduct a thorough legal audit and ensure all public statements are compliant.
- What if Jorge continues to go off-script during community AMAs?
 - Impact: Further erosion of community trust and potential legal exposure.
 - Mitigation: Implement a strict review process for all external communications, with David reviewing for legal compliance and Paul approving.
- What if Bob's financial model continues to fail and he resists pivoting?
 - Impact: Continued financial losses and potential legal issues, leading to the company's insolvency.
 - Mitigation: David should present a clear, data-driven case for pivoting to Paul, emphasizing the risks of continuing the current strategy.
- What if the team splits further over strategy disagreements?
 - Impact: Loss of key team members and a breakdown in decision-making, leading to paralysis and failure.
 - Mitigation: Paul must mediate and enforce a unified strategy, with clear roles and responsibilities for each co-founder.
- What if the token price continues to fall and the community panics?
 - Impact: Massive loss of community support and further devaluation of the token, making it impossible to recover.
 - Mitigation: David and Jorge must work together to craft a transparent and honest communication plan, focusing on the company's strengths and future plans.

5. PEOPLE & ORGANIZATIONAL RISKS

- Jorge Guinovart: Jorge is going off-script during AMAs and pushing for a consumer-focused model despite the financial and legal risks. He is threatening to leave if the company pivots to enterprise sales.
- Bob Carella: Bob's judgment is questionable, as evidenced by the market maker deposit incident and his initial suspicion of David. He is resistant to pivoting and may be forming a bloc with Jorge against David.
- Paul Chou: Paul is being too soft on Jorge and Bob, allowing their risky behaviors to continue. He needs to take a stronger stance and enforce a unified strategy.
- David Lara: David is overstepping by engaging outside counsel and communicating with Kaiser without alignment. His 'I told you so' attitude is eroding team trust, even when he is right.
- Team Dynamics: The team is at risk of splitting further over strategy disagreements, with Bob and Jorge potentially forming a bloc against David. Paul must mediate and enforce clear roles and responsibilities.
